シロハラ

A photograph of a bird, likely a species of warbler or similar small bird, perched on a branch of a bush. The bush is covered in numerous bright red, round berries. The bird has a greyish-brown head and back, with a lighter, yellowish-brown breast. It is facing left, looking towards the camera. The background is a soft, out-of-focus blue and green, suggesting an outdoor setting. The text in the top right corner provides the photographer's name, the date, and the location.
