木を掘るコゲラ

A woodpecker with brown and white striped plumage is perched on a tree trunk. The bird is facing right and has its beak pointed towards the bark. The tree trunk is thick and has a rough, textured surface with many small holes. A thinner branch extends from the main trunk towards the left. The background is a clear, bright blue sky.

桜の木にとまるコゲラ

A small, streaked bird, likely a Kinglet, is perched on a thin, light-brown branch. The bird has a white forehead, a dark eye, and a body covered in dark, vertical streaks on a lighter background. It is facing left. The branch is surrounded by numerous small, bright pink flowers, some of which are in sharp focus while others are blurred. The background is a soft, out-of-focus blue sky. In the upper right corner, there is a block of Japanese text.
